GDA,Regional & Other Division (GRO)	Georgia Fuller, gfuller@usaid.gov	Washington, DC or other U.S. location and Cuba	Facilitation the Free Flow of Information: The amounts and types of information made available during the internet era have been unprecedented throughout the world, but not in Cuba. The restrictions that the Cuban government has placed on the distribution of information, including access to the internet, have left many citizens yearning for greater access to unfiltered information. During the last 20 years, various independent CSGs and networks have been filling this void by distributing uncensored information and knowledge throughout the country. These initiatives serve as an alternative to state-sponsored sources of information. A number of independent CSGs and networks also provide a safe place where individuals can conduct research and analysis on a range of religious, literary, cultural, economic, and philosophical themes or topics. Update: Applications under review. Award(s) by 9/30/2011	NA	$7,500,000 - $8,500,000	Q3, FY11	Request for Applications, Multiple Cooperative Agreements
GDA,Regional & Other Division (GRO)	Georgia Fuller, gfuller@usaid.gov	Washington, DC or other U.S. location and Cuba	Democratic Engagement at the Community Level: The overall objective of the Community Engagement Program is to increase the number of independent civic, social or development projects/activities that are carried out in Cuba. The program will strengthen independent Civil Society Groups and provide them with technical and other assistance that will expand their capabilities to organize, train, and mobilize small groups of people in the same neighborhood/community that are interested in working together to alleviate or resolve a common problem. The program will focus on concerns and felt needs in the immediate environment that are significant for more than just a few families and which could potentially be supported by a majority of the people. Program implementer(s) will help citizens organize into groups that will identify, implement and evaluate small projects/activities that will increase the quality of life at a grassroots level. Update: Applications under review. Award(s) by 9/30/2011	NA	$7,500,000 - $8,500,000	Q3, FY11	Request for Applications, Multiple Cooperative Agreements
